DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 97-108, 114-118 and 122-123 are presented for examination.

Examiner's Amendment

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for the following examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Joseph P. O'Malley, registration number 36,228.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claims 96 and 124 have been canceled.

In claim 118, line 1 "The apparatus of claim 29" has been changed to-the system of claim 117-.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 97-108, 114-118 and 122-123 are allowed.

The present invention comprises a web business to business automation system that uses a computing model based on a single integrated database management system. It allows integration of the business to be streamlined. Vendor invoices and payments are handled using the database management system and both the customers and vendors can view status-invoices, credit(from returns) via the web.

Art Unit: 2162

The Examiner asserts that the closest prior art were: Junger(6,085,172), Sellers(5,311,438), Sitarski(5,237,497) and publication titled, "Business to Business on the Internet: Using the web to cut costs and build sales"(hereinafter Business to Business on the Internet" and Coverdale et al.(EP 996273 A1).

With respect to claim 97, Junger disclosed a method of processing customer service request relating to a product(abstract). including an automated workflow process for customer service requests, including returns, that uses a database and a web-enabled database management system(figures 2 and 3); a customer making a purchase form the merchant(i.e. the returns are on purchases that a customer makes to a merchant)(prior art figure 1, items 3A-3B) and via the web in a self-help manner, causing a customer-service/return record to be created in a database to be processed by the merchant. Junger failed to disclosed the specific limitations of claim 97 which recites "an automated workflow process for customer service requests, including returns, that uses a database and a web-enabled database management system, the customer via the web in a self-help manner causes a customer service return record to be created in a database, wherein the customer-service return record is created related ro a pre-existing database record and wherein for at least some customer-service/return record, an automated workflow process reverses a previously executed workflow process"

With respect to independent claims 100, 107, 114, 116, 117, 122 and 124, Seller disclosed a business-to-business commerce(i.e. the user represents a plant(business) which has a formal agreement with a vendor to provide specified quantity of material at agreed-upon prices) therefore a business to business process is taking place from a plant to a vendor(col. 70, lines 30-37).

Sistarki disclosed storing within a database, in accordance with a single database schema, all current records required to perform a full spectrum of business functions throughout a life cycle of each product item(col. 5, lines 59- col. 6, lines 1-17); and limiting a number of persons for which current records are stored within the database(col. 5, lines 33-40).

Business to Business on the Internet disclosed a method of establishing an end-to-end business-to-business commerce system for the sale, or sale and service, of product items, using a web-enabled relational database management system running on a server platform(entire document). Enabling a full spectrum of business functions to be performed remotely via the web(i.e. the company posts its products on electronic catalogs and provides online ordering and customer support via the net. It also sells Internet products and services which can be delivered via the net, such as software for intrusion detection and firewalls)(page 1, paragraph 4).

Coverdale et al. disclosed receiving a threshold value. Calculating a rating factor responsive to the quality of service for the Internet protocol network.

The references neither alone or in combination failed to teach the limitations of claims 100-105, which recite” a web-based business-to-business electronic commerce system including a database and a web server wherein transaction information is organized into self-contained workflow units having a predetermined format and each including demand information for a particular party, the predetermined format defining a command demand document enabling demand information to be capsuled for a range of differentiated business transaction of different complexity”.

The references neither alone or in combination failed to teach the limitations of claims 107-108, which recite “ applying an algorithm whereby items are classified, marked and displayed according to classification for performing a particular business functions”.

The references neither alone or in combination failed to teach the limitations of claims 114-115, which recite “establishing an end-to-end business commerce in which product items are sold, using a web-enabled relational database management system running on a server platform by providing within a single database automated system data and methods spanning multiple business functions, the data being stored in accordance with a single database schema; providing a user interface that allows open navigation by a user between information pertaining to different business domains, and, for each of multiple business functions, displaying within an integrated decision making environment complete information required to perform that business function; and dynamically defining multiple virtual business departments by, for each of multiple groups of people, assigning substantially similar access privileges to each person within the group, wherein the access privileges of different groups are substantially different”.

The references neither alone or in combination failed to teach the limitations of claim 116, which recite, “ identifying multiple modules of the software; and via web administration, producing a software configuration in which selected ones of the modules are enabled or disabled; wherein the software producing a workscope/workflow are structured display pf complex database records each comprising multiple lines of text and pertaining to both a first party to a business transaction and a second party to the business transaction, the structured display constituting an integrated decision-making environment for a particular business function”.

The references neither alone or in combination failed to teach the limitations of claims 117-118, which recite, “ a server platform running a web-enabled relational database management system; stored in the database, an item table comprising item records, each item record containing business domain-specific fields pertaining to a plurality of the following business domains: products, payments, performance and personnel; whereby, once item information has been input and committed, it is immediately available for viewing by a multiplicity of information workers, different information workers having responsibility for different ones of said domains”.

The references neither alone or in combination failed to teach the limitations of claims 122-123, which recite “ integrating within a single database business information spanning multiple business domains and formalizing a decision making -algorithm that uses information spanning multiple business domains which presents to the user results of the decision-making algorithm in response to a user action”.

The references neither alone or in combination failed on teach the limitations of claim 124. which recite,” interaction flows between business function enabled by the database which contains business rules for dealing with different business partners, the business rules including rules governing more than one of the business function affecting the sequentially interacting flows”.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

A. Westrope et al.(5,968,110) disclosed a catalog ordering system that would initiate the order entry, customer service, product information request or product return subroutines;

B. De Lapa et al. (5,353,218) disclosed a system for ordering and storing coupons information;

C. Clemmons (EP 996273 A1) disclosed a system that provides differentiate treatments to customer based on how profitable their accounts are.
